

OXFORD HISTORY OF CHEMISTRY DOUBLE BOOK LAUNCH

We are pleased to announce a double book launch event, to celebrate the publication of two books by distinguished and long-serving historians of science and chemistry.

Thomas Garnett: Science, Medicine, Mobility in Eighteenth-Century Britain (Bloomsbury) by Robert Fox Emeritus Professor of History of Science, Oxford, published in February 2024.

Carbon: A Biography (Polity), the English translation of Carbone. Ses vies, ses oeuvres (2018, Ed. Seuil) by Bernadette Bensaude-Vincent Emeritus Professor Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and Sacha Loeve (Université Jean Moulin Lyon 3), to be published in June 2024.

The launch will be held in the Salon at the Maison Française, Norham Rd., Oxford, 5–6pm, on Wednesday 22nd May, following the first meeting of the Oxford Seminar in the History of Alchemy and Chemistry (3pm–5pm Maison Française), where Bernadette will be delivering a paper entitled ‘Why a Biography of Carbon?’

Organizers: Jo Hedesan (georgiana.hedesan@history.ox.ac.uk)
John Christie (jrc\_@hotmail.com)